Lela Rose and Rent The Runway's Fashion Director Lucy Sykes Rellie hosted a cocktail party at Rose's New York City's Tribeca home on Tuesday night. The party served as a kick-off for the Rent The Runway's Trendsetter series. Guests in attendance at the party included Mandy Moore, who wore a Fall 2012 Lela Rose gown, as well as Rent The Runway Trendsetter's Rachel Roy, Lauren Bush Lauren, Tinsley Mortimer and Ann Caruso.

The Lela Rose brand is known for combining whimsy and elegant designs with brilliant color and handcrafted details to create modern American fashion. The designs also appeal to the modern sophisticated woman as it embodies a spirit of effortless elegance.

Rent The Runway Trendsetter is designed for women who love high fashion and who want to look glamorous. It's also ideal for women who want to experiment with new brands without investing in piece after piece. Users benefit from the expertise of professional stylists and the shared wisdom of like-minded fashion-forward members.
